THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 3 A.M.

News Summary.

Brown's message is among our telegrams this morning.

The New York Congressional delegation is unchanged, politically. Fenton was re-elected by a large majority, and the other members of the delegation are to be elected. The astonishing results of the election in New York city is the choice of Chas. G. Hopkins, alias Miles O'Reilly, as Register by over 13,000 majority."

The Herald Washington correspondent says that he has been asked to go to New York to resign his portfolio, nor has he intended to do so. Our other first page telegrams are interesting.

Robert Wilmer, of Louisville, was consecrated at New Orleans yesterday.

Father McMahon and Col. Lynch intend to appear at the trial of the Boston bombers. The former has employed eminent counsel to defend the Fenians to be tried in December.

The cable news is very interesting. The Croats have again won, beaten the Turks in a second battle and taken Pasha, the Turkish soldier, was wounded.

Gov. Curtin of Pennsylvania, has appointed the day for Thanksgiving.

Robert Witten, President of the State Bank of New York, died yesterday morning.

Rev. Samuel G. Brown, Professor at Dartmouth College, was elected President of Hamilton College, at a meeting of the Board of Trustees of that institution, held in New York yesterday.

Our telegraph columns contain a very plausible explanation of the "Boston question"—an affair that puzzles all Europe—and efforts to tell how the United States have become involved in the master.

Death of ISRAEL GIBBONS.—This deplorable event, which occurred in New Orleans on the first inst., was briefly announced in the Journal yesterday. Mr. Gibbons resided in Louisville for many years, and was known only to be loved. His friends will be gratified to read the following tribute to the worth which appears in the New Orleans Crescent:

We were deeply grieved last evening to learn of the demise of our old friend and editorial comrade, Israel Gibbons, whose long connection with the press of this city as a printer and writer, whose genial temper, generous heart, and ever ready smile, made him a favorite with a large circle of warmly attached friends. He but lately returned from the Rio Grande, where he went last year for his health and corresponded for the Crescent, and the tender sympathy he had shown and exerted that office we are informed, the title-page and preface of a volume to contain a selection of his contributions to the press. From what we are told, he knew how precarious was his condition, and yet did not care to live long beyond the event with his characteristic equanimity.

Mr. Gibbons was a native of Chester, Penn., and we have often heard him speak, with pleasurable pride, of his being born while his father was a member of the colonial assembly.

He came to this city fifteen years ago, and was for some time among the printers of the old Commercial Bulletin.

He became connected with the Crescent as its reporter, in 1855; and the zoom of information he gave to the "Loco" of our contemporaries will be well remembered. Like all keen appraisers of the ridiculous, he had a good sympathy with the tendencies of human nature, and in spite of his local associations had fun and pathos in a simple, careless way, that but added to the strong effect of either.

At the opening of the war, he entered the "Continental Guards" of this city as a private. He speedily saw active service in the army of the West under Gen. Johnston, and, if we mistake not, was once a prisoner. He was rapidly promoted to a captain and assistant quartermaster, and became a full quartermaster.

He then acted as chief quartermaster to Gen. Wheeler, of the Confederate cavalry.

He resumed his duties in the Crescent office on his return after the war; but his health was shattered, alas! not to be recuperated. There will be many a heart that will grieve for his untimely demise, the prime of manhood, and many a voice to say: "Poor Gibbons!"

The OYSTER SCARE.—Some of our contemporaries have published accounts of the unhealthiness of oysters the present season. The oyster panic turned out as senseless as any of the popular fallacies which people will persist in believing.

Some wiseacre said oysters produced cholera—that a poisonous deposit formed in them which would produce death.

Yet while the stupid ones denied themselves the luxury of bivalves the oystermen themselves grew fat and waxed strong, and the bold consumers lived on the daintiest oysters cheaply. The oyster crop on the coast is unusually abundant and fine, and at Baltimore and Philadelphia the people are jubilant over their cheapness. A can or two out here, however, does not seem to cost any less than when oysters are scarce. Why it?

GREAT FIRE AT EDINBURGH, IND.—We learn by passers-by the Louisville and Jeffersonville railroad that, as the train passed through Edinburgh, a terrific fire was waging there, and that half the town seemed to be on fire. As the train merely halted for a moment, no particulars were obtained.

P. S.—By a private despatch received at a late hour we learn that the fire was less extensive than at first reported, the loss amounting to $5,000. What was destroyed we have not learned.

Still Later.—We are informed by a gentleman who came on the train, that when he left, nine valuable buildings had been destroyed, and that the fire was spreading. It estimates the loss, up to the time he left, at $50,000.

We are surprised to hear that our old friend C. C. Green has been superseded as mail agent between this city and Evansville. A better and more faithful officer has never been in the public service. The once which he now leaves he has filled thirteen years and under four national administrations. There has never been a complaint against him in all that time. He has never lost even a single trip, nor has he the good will of all, both upon the river and land, and is a good Johnson man. There has been some mistaking, we apprehend.

PROGRESS.—The change of track on the old Portland road is progressing as rapidly as the workmen can execute the work. Within a day or two the lower end of the road has been entirely relaid, with a new curve at the turning point on the river bank. This has prevented the cars from running down to the end of the road, but the Superintendent has placed a four-horse omnibus at the ferry landing to carry passengers to the cars. This proves a decided convenience to all who dislike to climb the hill.

AN INVESTIGATION.—We notice that a third story is being put upon the house now occupied by John Watson, No. 268 Main street, between Seventh and Eighth streets; a harness and saddle factory. The addition will not only increase the good appearance of the building, but will give the enterprising proprietor more room for his increasing business.

COUNTERFEITERS SENTENCED.—William Lacey, Samuel Battaila and Wm. Smith, the counterfeitors tried before the United States District Court, were sentenced yesterday by Judge Ballard. Smith was discharged but Lacey and Battaila will serve twelve months at hard labor at Franklin.

PARDON FILED.—Hon. Blanton Duncan appeared yesterday in the United States District Court, filed his pardon from the President and made a motion that his property in this city, that was confiscated, be returned to him. Judge Ballard took time to consider the motion.

The Greenland Race Course—Third Day.

Exhumation of a Woman's Corpse—The Stomach to be Analyzed.

Considerable excitement has been occasioned within a few days past in an upper neighborhood by the growing suspicion and rumor that Mrs. Benjamin Powell, wife of the well known policeman, who was taken sick last Monday week, and was deceased and buried on Friday, had come to her death by poison. The mother of Mrs. Powell, Catharine Casey, made complaint to our courteous and worthy Coronor, Dick Morris, who, after consulting with Mayor Lithgow and City Attorney Roray, concluded to have the remains exhumed for the lead, but he was soon shaken off, shy winning in time 2:50.

SUMMARY.

First Race—Dash of two miles; free for all ages. Prize, $100. Closed with the following entries:

E. A. Smith enters a s. 3. Blingmaster, by Bling, 2 years old. Dressed.

J. Jamesby enters a s. 3. Faunie Brown, 2 years old. Dressed.

J. H. Gandy enters a s. 3. Lady Fashion, by Ron. 1. Bling, 3 years old. Dressed.

Time—1st mile, 1:30; 2nd mile, 1:30.

Second race was mile heats, three in five, between Smith's Nellie Glynn, Patterson's Count Bismarck, Van Lew's Jocossen and Alexander's Asterisk.

The start for the first heat was a fine one, the horses being well together. Patterson having rather the advantage, with Van Lew second, Alexander third, and Smith last.

On the first quarter there was no change in the position of the horses beyond the fact that Alexander stepped to the rear and Smith took the third position. When they passed the half-mile pole, they were all strung out. After the half-mile pole, Smith made for the heat and gave Van Lew the go-by. He now made for the lead, but Patterson was too fast for him, and passed the string in 2:01; Smith second, A. J. Alexander third, and Van Lew last.

Although Patterson won the first heat, Smith continued the favorite. The lead off the second heat was another good one. After the first turn was made Patterson took the lead, Van Lew being some three lengths behind, with Smith by his side and Alexander bringing up the rear. They ran in this position down the back stretch, and when near the half-mile pole, the speed of Alexander was increased and the three rear horses in a bunch made a fine brush. Just after passing the half-mile pole, Alexander took the second position and Van Lew fell to the rear. The remainder of the mile was run without any change. Patterson passing the sour first, Alexander second, Smith third, and Van Lew last.

"On such occasions, with the exception of a very few, all save navy revolvers strapped around their waist. This habit of wearing firearms is not confined alone to the men, but boys scarcely ten years of age are to be seen on every corner in a state of intoxication with two large-sized revolvers in their belt or hands, and more frequently the latter than the former. With affairs in a condition such as this, it is a matter of little surprise that the harmony and quiet of this otherwise peaceful village should sometimes be broken.
